I started with a couple of photos of Nebraska high school football players and merged them using Adobe Photoshop to create a composite image. I placed images of football players to add depth to the image. I used extreme color effects, glow, and typography to show off the excitement of the football season.

All designs, composition, and effects are original and made without the use of templates. The background was created using logos, glows, and Photoshop filter gallery tools to create energy and unity for the graphic. This project was created for social media to promote Class A Nebraska high school football.
