

My advertisement was created on Canva. I used a background provided by Canva that incorporated the main idea of my ad. I got all of my clip art from the general web browser. I created a theme and main idea for my advertisement to start. I designed a fictional water park. I gave it fictional hours and requirements to make it seem more realistic. I also used contrasting and bright colors to draw people's attention to it. I added the word "new" because it draws people's attention and interest to the page.
