Artist's Statement: I began this graphic with a plain gray background, then added white blurred elements to create a subtle gradient that helped break up the darkness. Next, I introduced two different text styles and applied a drop shadow effect to make the lettering stand out. After that, I placed the main subject over the text and added a shadow beneath the player to create depth and make them pop. To enhance the sense of dimension, I duplicated the player, flipped the image vertically, lowered the opacity, and aligned it in an almost mirrored position. I added navy stars with reduced opacity to bring in more character, along with a faint dot texture in the corners for extra visual interest. Finally, I centered my school's logo at the bottom and personalized the graphic further by adding the player's name and number at the top.
